Stephanie Pope

Executive Vice President,
The Boeing Company
President and Chief Executive Officer,
Boeing Global Services

Stephanie Pope is executive vice president and chief executive officer of Boeing Global Services, with responsibility for leading Boeing's aerospace services business supporting commercial, government and aviation industry customers worldwide. Boeing Global Services offers solutions in fleet sustainment, parts and distribution, digital capabilities, training, engineering and modifications, as well as cabins and interiors. She is a member of Boeing's Executive Council.

Prior to this role, Pope was vice president and chief financial officer of Boeing Commercial Airplanes, from December 2020 to March 2022, with responsibility for the financial management and strategic, long-range business planning for the business unit.

Previously, Pope was vice president and chief financial officer of Boeing Global Services, where she oversaw all financial activities for the business unit and was instrumental in its establishment in 2017.

Before that, Pope served as vice president of Finance and controller for Boeing Defense, Space & Security, with responsibility for the regulatory compliance of the business unit as well as ensuring the accuracy, transparency and timeliness of its financial disclosures.

In her two decades at Boeing, Pope has held a number of other senior leadership positions at the corporate level as well as the program level for Boeing Defense, Space and Security.

Pope was an Eisenhower Fellow in Brussels and Ireland in 2008.

Pope has a bachelor's degree in accounting from Southwest Missouri State University and a Master of Business Administration from Lindenwood University.
